

'A Terribly Strange Bed' – some questions for discussion

1. What clues do we have at the beginning of the story that something is bound to go wrong?
2. In what ways are the characters in the house typical of ghost or mystery stories?
3. What makes the man suspicious that something is wrong initially, once he is in the room?
4. How have the people in the house tried to murder the narrator?