

Assessment targets: vocabulary & writing to inform, explain, describe

Minor Task

Holidays are here again

You have 25 minutes to complete this question, including time for planning and for checking your work at the end.

Holidays can be anything from a weekend away at relatives to a luxury trip to somewhere far away. Think of a holiday that you have either been on or would like to go on.

Write an account of your holiday for a travel magazine called The Armchair Traveller, which is aimed at people who enjoy reading about travel but are not necessarily able to go to the places.

Your account should include:

- Details about the destination and the type of holiday it was.
- Facts about what happened.

You should only write three paragraphs.

Use the boxes below to jot down some things to include:
