

Who Am I?

Below is a grid which describes one of Seamus Heaney's poem. See if you can work out which one it is. Write your answers to right across each line and you will see that they get easier. Which poem is being described? Once you have your answer, write clues on a piece of paper and find evidence from the poem to prove you are right. Now explain why Heaney uses this language and structure.

I am about the past	I am about the natural environment	Each
I admire someone but feel like a nuisance	I see this person as an expert	Many of
I am set on a farm	As an adult I see the person in a different light	The per

On the next page is a blank template; use it to create your own clues for the other Heaney poems you are studying. You can also repeat the exercises above.
