

Explore Shakespeare's presentation of love in the play

Throughout the play we witness many different types of love. The chart below shows which types of love are presented. Decide who is involved in these relationships, find quotations to use as evidence for each one, explain the importance of the relationship in the play and explore why Shakespeare presents all these representations of love to the audience. Remember that some of these types of love are presented as going wrong or being false in the play; think about why Shakespeare does this too.
